Engagement Dialogues in Q3 2026 13

Introduction

This report presents the Norm-Based Engagement activities that were carried out by ISS STOXX on behalf of participating institutional investors during Q3 2026.

The first section of the report provides an overview of ISS STOXX's Norm-Based Engagement approach. This is followed by sections presenting engagement activities and case studies from Q3 2026, and the overall engagement statistics from the start of 2026 until the end of Q3 2026. The report also includes an appendix covering the details of dialogues held.

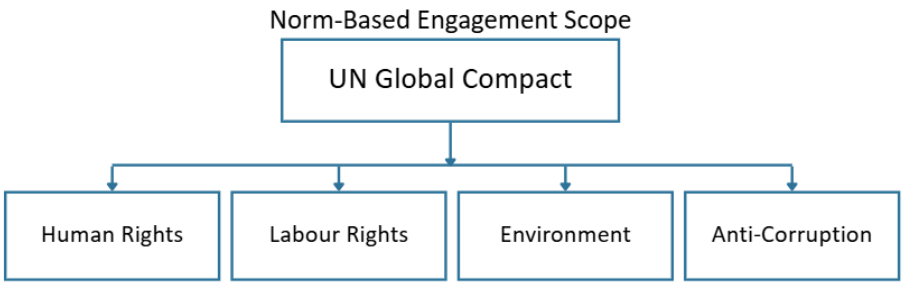

The detailed engagement reports and timelines for each company listed in the report are available to clients on the Pooled Engagement platform.

ISS STOXX's Norm-Based Engagement Approach

ISS STOXX's Norm-Based Engagement supports investors in engaging with issuers to promote greater transparency around the management and mitigation of environmental and social risks linked to corporate activities and operations. By joining forces through a collaborative engagement framework, participating asset owners and managers can strengthen their collective influence while reducing the time and resources required for engagement.

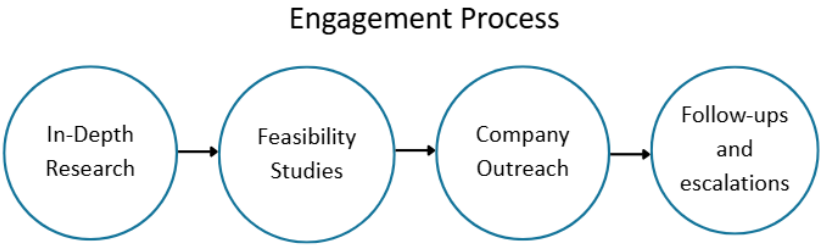

Engagement Scope

Through Norm-Based Engagement, participating investors engage with companies identified by ISS STOXX's Norm-Based Research as being involved in alleged or verified severe, systematic, or systemic breaches of international norms. Engagements are structured around the four United Nations Global Compact areas: human rights, labour rights, environment, and anti-corruption, and may address one or more specific issues within these areas. Investors can choose to opt into or out of individual company engagements based on their priorities.

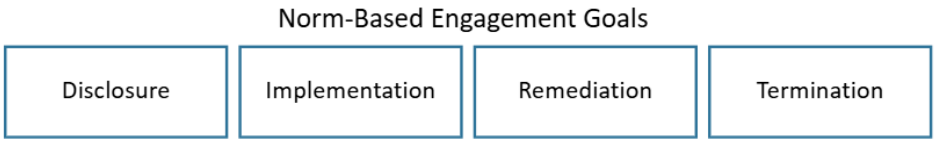

Engagement Process

Engagements are informed by Norm-Based Research, including in-depth analysis and fact-finding dialogues with companies and relevant stakeholders. Companies linked to material controversies are proposed for engagement on a rolling quarterly basis. Engagements begin with written outreach and may involve meetings, follow-up correspondence, and, where necessary, escalation to senior management or the board.

Engagement Outcomes

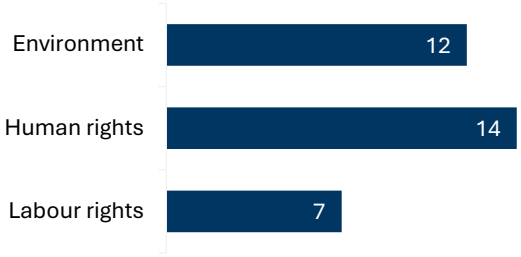

Each engagement is guided by clearly defined goals across four outcome categories: disclosure, policy implementation, remediation, and the termination of the problematic practice. Throughout the engagement, a company's responsiveness and quality of participation are assessed towards these goals. Engagement on a controversy is closed when the underlying Norm-Based Research assessment is upgraded to a Green signal.

Engagements Initiated in Q3 2026

In Q3 2026, ISS STOXX sent engagement letters to 27 companies on behalf of signatory investors, covering 33 individual topics. By 30th September, ISS STOXX had received responses from 12 of these companies.

SUMMARY

Koninklijke Philips NV (Philips) is a medical/nursing services company headquartered in the Netherlands. In Q3 2026, ISS STOXX sent a letter to Philips on behalf of participating investors regarding the company's consumer health and safety controversy in the United States.

In an engagement meeting in September 2026, the company provided an update on its Respironics sleep therapy device recall and discussed the company's broader framework for product safety, quality management, regulatory compliance, and governance. Philips reported that additional testing of the recalled Respironics devices found no appreciable health harm associated with the foam used in the products. The company also clarified that only a relatively small number of legal cases remain active in the U.S.

The company outlined the regulatory requirements governing its products, noting that approvals must satisfy standards set by authorities such as the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and European regulators. The company also described its governance framework, which includes internal audits, regular regulatory inspections, and independent third-party reviews throughout product development and quality assurance processes.

Philips stated that recall activities for sleep therapy devices have been formally closed, and remaining ventilator-related actions are expected to conclude by year-end. It also noted that it has completed payment of the U.S. personal injury settlement and that the U.S. Department of Justice investigation related to the events leading to the recall remains ongoing.

Based on the information Philips provided in this engagement dialogue, the company was assessed as having made positive progress on all the engagement goals, and to have a quality of participation of "Excellent". ISS STOXX continues to monitor the efficacy of the company's remediation measures.

Barrick Mining Corporation

Engagement start: Q3 2026

THEMES

- Human rights due diligence, Right to life, Torture / inhumane treatment
- Water pollution
- Environmental impacts, Pollution, Waste management, Water pollution

ENGAGEMENT GOALS

- Disclosure of measures and supporting information addressing alleged human rights impacts and environmental harms associated with mining operations, including security-force violence against Indigenous people, mine spills, and broader environmental impacts.
- Demonstrate the effectiveness of the company's human rights, environmental, and operational risk management policies and processes in preventing violence against Indigenous communities and mitigating environmental impacts at the North Mara, Porgera, and Veladero mines.
- Demonstrate that the company has effectively implemented measures to prevent violence, manage mine tailings, and address allegations of toxic spills, with progress independently verified where appropriate.

SUMMARY

Barrick Mining Corporation (Barrick) is a precious metals company headquartered in Canada. In Q3 2026, ISS STOXX sent a letter to Barrick on behalf of participating investors regarding the company's controversies related to the complicity in human rights violations by security forces/providers in Tanzania, water pollution in Papua New Guinea, and environmental impacts in Argentina.

In an engagement meeting in August 2026, the company shared updates on its North Mara, Porgera, and Veladero mines.

Regarding its operations at the Veladero mine in Argentina, Barrick shared that containment and remediation measures following the 2015 spill were implemented immediately and that investigations concluded there were no significant environmental or human health impacts. The company also shared that, following the incident, it introduced a range of preventive measures and subsequent incidents in 2016 and 2017 were successfully contained within control systems and no further spills have occurred since 2017. The company described its expanded environmental monitoring programme at Veladero, which includes publicly disclosed monitoring results.

Regarding the Porgera mine in Papua New Guinea, the company stated that riverine disposal remains a legally permitted practice in Papua New Guinea and that affected landowners are consulted and compensated through established agreements. Barrick also outlined efforts to reduce riverine disposal, including expanding underground tailings backfill and evaluating a potential land-based co-mingled tailings and waste rock facility. It added that extensive environmental monitoring is conducted across approximately 600 km of river systems, covering water quality, sediment, and aquatic biodiversity.

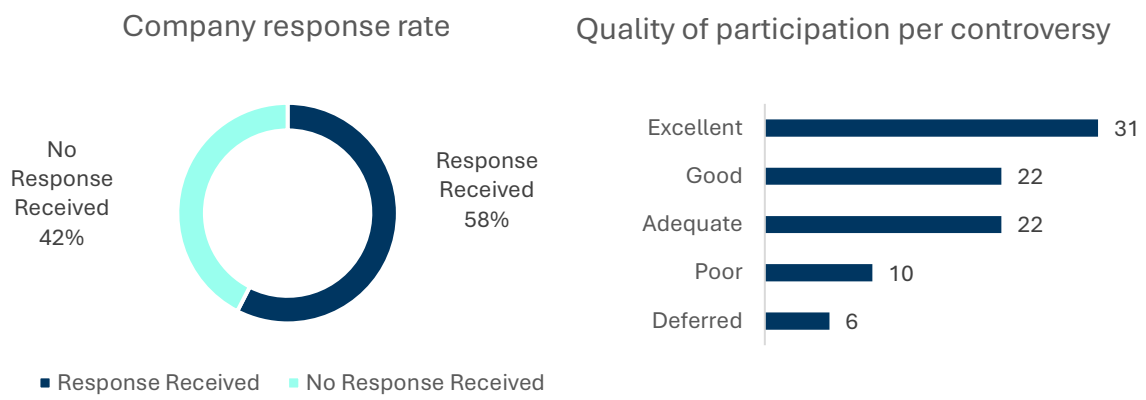

Regarding the North Mara mine in Tanzania, the company stated that site security is provided by accredited, unarmed private security contractors. It noted that an independent review by the International Code of Conduct Association found no evidence for allegations regarding mercenary use. The company stated that incidents involving use of force relate to Tanzanian police, adding that Barrick has established formal cooperation mechanisms with the police, including officer vetting, training, investigations, and disciplinary follow-up procedures aligned with the Voluntary Principles on Security and Human Rights. The company also highlighted efforts to reduce security risks through community engagement, livelihood programmes, grievance mechanisms, and regular dialogue with local stakeholders.

Based on the information Barrick provided in this engagement dialogue, the company was assessed as having made positive progress on all but one of the engagement goals for the three controversies. The company was assessed as having a quality of participation of "Excellent". ISS STOXX continues to monitor the company's commitments and the efficacy of its remediation measures.

Engagement Statistics for 2026

Since the start of 2026, ISS STOXX has received responses from 61 companies, covering 91 individual topics for engagements initiated in Q3 2026 or earlier.

Chart 3-4. Cumulative engagement statistics for 2026

NOTE:

Definition of response rate: The percentage of companies that have responded, through written correspondence or a meeting, out of all companies with which there has been at least one inbound or outbound interaction since the beginning of the year.

Definitions of quality of participation: Excellent: The company has replied and substantially addressed all questions. Good: The company has replied and substantially addressed most elements of the questions. Adequate: The company has replied and has addressed at least one of the questions posed. This also applies if the company's response did not substantially address the questions posed. Poor: The company has replied, but did not meaningfully address the questions posed. This also applies if the company only shared a link to a relevant report. Deferred: The company has replied, acknowledging the enquiry, but has requested more time to respond, transferred the responsibility to another function in the company, and/or agreed to schedule a meeting in which it will provide more information. None: The company has not replied.
